Great America

Great America has a wide variety of rides, foods, and arcade games. One of the biggest attractions and the most fun rides in Great America is the Drop Zone. In this ride you go to the very top of a 22 story tower then drop all the way to the bottom in less than 4 seconds. The ride is meant for adventure seekers and

Employee of the Month

Juan Martinez has been chosen to be this month's employee of the Month. Juan is the Theme Parks Unlimited CIO for the technology department. He put a lot of effort into making the weekly newsletter. Juan Martinez is one of those people that stays on task and takes work seriously. His skills using technology has been an asset to this company, by constantly developing new skills. Juan's attitude and work habits has had a big influence on his co-workers. Juan is a down to earth person and a nice guy. He thinks of his peers when managing his technology department. Juan is very dedicated to completing his work as well as helping others in his department and seeing Theme Parks Unlimited grow. Which is why we have chosen him to the

"The website is now being launched on the web."

Theme Parks Unlimited Website

The Theme Parks Unlimited Website is still being worked on. Max Santana and Mr. Simpson have just gotten the approval from the district to start the process of launching the site on the net. This website will be fully functional and will have all the bells and whistles of a real company. We are looking into putting drop down menus on the site so that the customer can select their choice of tickets from different theme parks around the world. After choosing they will be able to purchase tickets by being taken to the shopping cart .

FBLA

If you are interested in business then FBLA is the right club for you. FBLA stands for the Future Business Leaders of America, and with their help, you can be one of those leaders. If you plan on or have already taken five or more business classes during high school then you should look into joining. The perks of FBLA are thing such as sashes and medallions, certificates, diplomas, and even scholarships when you graduate. For more information about FBLA please see Mr. Simpson.

“Students will be attending an informational seminar.”

Field Trip

On October 10th all of the heads from each department met at Tracy High by 6:30 am to attend the informational seminar at Don Julio Junior High School in Highlands, California. They planned on arriving around 8:30 am and were back in Tracy around 4:15 pm. The workers were transported by the Coordinator, Mr. Driggs via mini van. At the seminar the students learned more about things like how to determine their workers salary and how to keep their business running smoothly. The Technology department learned more about how to create the Theme Parks Unlimited Website as well as how to use a few programs that will help manage and edit all the pictures. And the Accounting department learned how to set up out email and how to pay bills. It was very fun and informative day, there was business card exchanges with other businessmen and women as well as a good healthy lunch where we shared what we learned.

and Dance-Dance Revolution for those who just want to let loose. And you can't leave Great America without getting a prize as a souvenir, which is where the game booths come in. There are games like shooting hoops, ring throwing, water guns, and the classic hammer game. Great America isn't just for adults there are many rides for children of younger ages, which is what makes Great America so great. If your planning a trip to Northern California look not further than Great America if you want to have the time of your life.

"Your Choices are Unlimited!"

October has been a great month for Theme Parks Unlimited. We have made much progress in the past month. I could not ask more from all of the departments. Accounting, Human Resources, Sales, Technology, and Marketing have had everything under control and the company is running smoothly. In no time, we should have a working website and a completed catalog. Accounting has been working feverously on the company pay-checks and business loan. In no time at all, Theme Parks Unlimited should be the premiere company of virtual enterprises everywhere.

Your CEO,

David McCray
